Summary of reasons for classification:

The DVD Saw IV is classified as:

Objectionable except if the availability of the publication is restricted to persons who have attained the age of 18 years.

The DVD contains a feature that is almost identical to a 35mm film of the same name previously examined and classified by the Classification Office. The film was classified as "Objectionable except if the availability of the publication is restricted to persons who have attained the age of 18 years", with the descriptive note "Sadistic violence" (OFLC No.702859). This decision was registered on 29 November 2007. The feature contains 16 additional pieces of footage that were not included in the earlier version of Saw IV. The distributor has provided a list of points in the feature where extra footage has been inserted. It is very difficult to tell where extra footage has been inserted without reference to this list. The inclusion of this extra footage produces a negligible difference in effect on the viewer.

As well as the feature, the DVD includes standard DVD components such as a chapter selection facility and extra material which comprises behind the scenes footage, three trailers, a deleted scene, a music video and two audio commentaries. The additional components are of a similar nature and therefore do not require any change to the original classification.
